Important notes to the Parents

The essay must be entirely the work of the student entering the contest. While students are encouraged to brainstorm and discuss topic options with their parents, they should write the construction and essay themselves. However, be sure the subject teacher will guide them.

Please note that the class-specific English subject teachers will share information about how to submit the drafts and the final version during class. You are requested to remind the students at home to be mindful of the above mentioned deadlines.

Thank you,
