JULY 2024

Dear Parents,

While students enjoy their well-deserved break, CGSD is excited to offer an engaging summer camp at Elementary and Primary levels. Our camp features exciting activities like robotics, life skills workshops, general knowledge challenges, and even puppetry. We have collaborated with experts to ensure these sessions are both enjoyable and enriching.

With the climate crisis looming, the role of teachers in equipping future generations has never been more crucial. As a part of our commitment to continuously improving our environmental education efforts, we recently gathered student and staff feedback to chart some big steps forward. This new initiative goes beyond traditional environmental education and aims to make CGS, CGS NC and CGSD model green schools.

In the recent few months, our students participated in transformative Round Square conferences held in the UK and Australia. As a parent myself, I witnessed firsthand the incredible growth these conferences can spark. Sending my son to his first conference at Samworth Academy, UK was one of the best decisions I have made. These experiences push students outside their comfort zones, fostering responsibility and independence. We encourage you to embrace similar opportunities for your children – trust me, the impact can be truly transformative for both them and you.

With the new academic year on the horizon, we have been busy planning ways to enhance the learning experience at CGSD. Based on your valuable feedback, our teachers will undergo training on the latest teaching methods. We are also thrilled to incorporate more outdoor activities into the curriculum, including organized sports on expansive fields.

A warm congratulations to our recent graduates! We wish them all the best in their future pursuits.

Enjoy the rest of your summer break. We look forward to reuniting in August!

Cordially,

Rubaiyat Razzaque
